Senator Pollock, of South Carolina, Declares in Favor of Measure

After Baird's Scalp

National Party Will Try to Defeat New Jersey Republican Opposed to Them

Senator Pollock, of South Carolina, nominated by the Democratic party to fill out the unexpired term of Benjamin R. Tillman until next March, has announced he will support the suffrage amendment which is voted on in the Senate. His appointment becomes effective immediately after Election Day, November 5, when he will succeed Senator Bennett, who is now serving by appointment.

This leaves only one more vote to be gained for suffrage in order to win the amendment. Suffragists believe that Gay, of Louisiana, may be the man to be converted. Failing this, the missing vote must be obtained either in New Jersey or New Hampshire.

The same situation exists in both states. In New Hampshire the Democratic candidate, John B. Jameson, is running for the short term to succeed Drew, who was appointed to serve until November 5 in place of Senator Gallagher, who died. Mr. Drew voted against the amendment; Mr. Jameson has pledged himself to support it. Mr. George H. Moses, running on the Republican ticket, has declared himself opposed to it. The National Woman's party, according to two of its leaders, Miss Elsie Hill and Miss Vida M. Holland, will concentrate their efforts in New Hampshire on a campaign to elect Jameson.

Leach Meets All Comers

AN additional incentive in filling this district's quota in the present loan drive A. B. Leach, head of the Metropolitan Canvass Committee, yesterday announced that he will duplicate the amounts raised by public school children, policemen and firemen between midnight Thursday and midnight Friday. All returns are to be in his hands by Saturday noon.

"I know this is a big order," Mr. Leach said, "but we are prepared to handle it. A large clerical force will be on hand to take care of the tabulation, which may last well into Saturday night. Already I have had a 'rise' from the Fire and Police departments, which replied, 'Fine! we'll stick you good!'"

"I made a similar offer to the schools alone, and we bought over $2,000,000 worth of bonds to match their subscriptions. I don't know what this offer will bring, but I hope it will enable the schools and the Fire and Police departments to go well over their respective quotas. We have had a lot to contend—Spanish 'flu,' peace talk and alien enemy propaganda, but there is one thing you may be sure of, and that is New York will meet its quota."

of Senator Hughes, there has been another appointment to fill a vacancy. David Baird, a Republican, who will serve until November 5. On November 5 it will be necessary to elect some one to this seat for the unexpired term—that is, until next March. Baird is a candidate for the three months, and is pledged not to run for the long term of six years, which will begin in March. He is opposed to the suffrage amendment, so both the National Woman's party and the National Woman Suffrage Association, it was said by their leaders yesterday, will campaign in opposition to Baird and in favor of Hennessy, a Democrat, who is pledged to support the amendment.

"The New Jersey campaign," said Miss Mithelland, "is being conducted from house to house and from office to office. We are seeking Republican votes as well as Democratic."

"We are making no campaign so far as Governor Edge is concerned. Our only aim in that state is to defeat Baird and elect Hennessy for that short term of three months. Despite handicaps, such as the influenza epidemic has imposed, we believe we have an excellent chance to succeed. If we do, the women of this country will receive their freedom."

The leaders of the campaign have been gathered from many states, among them being Miss Lucy Graham and Miss Gladys Greiner, of Baltimore; Mrs. Bertha Moller, of Minneapolis; and Miss Vivian Pierce, of San Diego, Cal.

Called to Account
By Suffrage Leader

Mary Garrett Hay, Praising Gov. Whitman, Says He Supported Cause

Miss Mary Garrett Hay, chairman of the Woman Suffrage Party of New York County and member of the executive committee of the Republican National Committee, in a letter yesterday to Joseph H. Seans, chairman of the Whitman "White Book" Campaign Committee, among other things said:

"I feel indebted to Governor Whitman because he has long been a champion of the suffrage cause. Since the voters of New York State conferred franchise upon women gentlemen have sprung up who may be called the 'After Election Suffragists,' men who assure us they always have believed women should have the ballot, and they rejoice in their entrance into the political arena, and hope they will not forget to be grateful to the party that helped her, namely, their own party, and that she will stand by the candidates who stood by her, namely, themselves."

"These gentlemen are strangely silent during the pre-election days when their help would have meant something in the suffrage cause."

"Governor Whitman does not belong to this group of time-serving politicians. Long before woman suffrage was popular, when its advocacy might well be a detriment to a man in public life, he espoused it openly and fearlessly."

Music

Miss Lacroix Gives a Musically Recital at Aeolian Hall

By H. E. Krehbiel

Whether it be irrelevant to the day's critical record, or even an impertinence, it is sometimes so pleasant a thing to extend a sincere and hearty welcome to a newcomer to our concert rooms that it is assuredly pardonable. The rareness of the occasion in itself offers an excuse for its exercise. Miss Amore Lacroix, then, who gave a recital of pianoforte music in Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon, is cordially welcomed to the ranks of concert givers. She ought to be heard and speeded on her professional path, not because, possibly, she sought a metropolitan hearing to obtain favorable opinions from the metropolitan newspapers, but because she deserves to be heard. She brought with her the proofs that she has an artistic mission and laid them before her hearers in her performance. In the nature of things it cannot be a large nor a unique mission, but such as it is she has the equipment, technical, intellectual and emotional, to fulfill it. She cannot surpass more mature, more generously gifted artists who have won their places and maintain them, but she can take her place among the stars of different and lesser glory. She played Schubert's Sonata, Op. 42, at the opening of her concert, and in a moment the discriminating amongst her listeners had reason to know that here was an interpretative artist of thoroughly musical fibre, one with imagination that could penetrate to the heart of a composition and repeat its throbbing pulsings so synchronously as to evoke an echo from the hearts of the listeners. A re-creative artist with not only the knowledge of what to do but also with a technical command of the agencies of expression. There is no suggestion of soulless mechanism in her digital skill. Her fingers evoke the nuances of color and emphasis, and make a harmony of the composer's idea. In short, Miss Lacroix does not play the piano; she plays music upon the piano, which is often a very different and always a difficult thing. After the Schubert sonata came other pieces, unfamiliar compositions by Edward Royce and E. R. Blanchet, which her art made as interesting as they could be made, and familiar compositions by Chopin in which her fancy and imagination were shown to be warm and healthy. She gave an interesting concert.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Gives House For Chateau-Thierry Club

Wounded men from New York hospitals will be taken to the club every day between 1 and 6 o'clock. The organization will provide the transportation. A circulating library is at the disposal of the soldiers, who may take books back with them to the hospitals. The large four-story house for the club quarters was given by Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, jr.

$1,000,000,000 Fund
For Rehabilitation
Of Jews Is Planned

Felix Warburg Outlines Programme to Help Countrymen

Millions in Poverty
Money Will Be Loaned Members of Race to Make Them Self-Supporting

Launching of a world-wide programme for reconstruction of the Jewish race was announced last night by Felix M. Warburg, chairman of the joint distribution committee of the American Funds for Jewish War Sufferers.

The programme calls for the raising of $1,000,000,000 to establish Jews, all over the world, a self-supporting, economically independent basis. Contributions are requested from every Jew in the United States, and the state-made plan that loans and subscriptions from non-Jewish sources will be welcomed.

As a prelude to the work American Jews will be sent to Russia, Rumania, Poland, Palestine, Serbia, Greece, Bulgaria and every other country where Jewish populations exist.

At present it is estimated that, exclusive of the Jews in the United States, one-quarter of the Jewish population of the world is in a destitute condition. Of the balance of the 9,000,000 to 12,000,000 Jews scattered throughout the world, it is declared at least one-half, at the conclusion of peace, will need assistance before they can hope to become self-supporting.

"America has learned through the Liberty Loan," said Mr. Warburg, in announcing the reconstruction plan last night, "the value of loans, and how these can be made to accomplish what cannot be accomplished by contributions. A large amount of the money required to carry out the programme for Jewish reconstruction will be obtained through loans, which will repay not only the principal advanced, but dividends, and will include the gratitude of the Jewish people. The opportunity will be given to enable as large a number as possible to become self-supporting, and in this way the principal will be amplified, for once this purpose is accomplished it will be possible to arrange for repayment of the sums advanced."

The commissions soon to be sent abroad will be made up of experts in philanthropy, social service, education and business. Their aims include preliminary relief work, scientific study of needs, employment of labor for the public welfare, supplying raw materials, construction of vocational schools, provision for spiritual and moral welfare, and the return of American citizens to the United States.

A start has been made in reconstruction work in Palestine, where Dr. Samuel Lowenstein, superintendent of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum here, has made a preliminary survey. He is on his way home to report. Miss H. Goldman is on her way to establish committee branches in Serbia, Rumania and Bulgaria. Dr. Boris D. Bogen, secretary of the field bureau of the National Conference of Jewish Charities, is to start soon for Vladivostok.

By Heywood Brown
"A Stitch in Time," by Oliver D. Bailey and Lottie M. Meany, at the Fulton Theatre is a dramatization of the story of Cinderella. This plot has found its way to the stage many times, but that is hardly an objection, since it only goes to prove the dramatic worth of the tale. It suffers somewhat in the present retelling, because the authors have insisted on stripping Cinderella of all sense as well as fine sentiment. The young woman's obsession is sadistic. She is prepared to give herself the worst of it whenever opportunity offers.

It must be remembered that the original Cinderella took the glass slipper when it was offered to her and did not say, "Oh, no, give it to one of my homely step-sisters." Phoebe-Ann of "A Stitch in Time" was not like that. When she found the young woman to whom her adored one was engaged absolutely worthless, she insisted on helping along the romance at every opportunity. Only the interference of an old family retainer prevented the heroine from ruining her own life and some more.

There was no denying the fact that she was sweet. As a matter of fact, all the characters fell into one or the other of two camps. They were all as mild as oil or as bitter as vinegar. The heroine, Phoebe-Ann, was only slightly sweeter than the hero. When rounders called him up to play poker he put them off with good excuses, and when he was painting pictures he was engaged in making Phoebe-Ann change all her "aints" to "isnts." Ralph Kellard, who played the role, gave a performance which made Phoebe-Ann's struggling young genius of a couple of seasons back seem like a cave man. Irene Fenwick
